

Ten Things You Should Know About 529 Education Savings Plans

While the cost of living is steadily increasing, higher-education costs are rising at a faster rate—approximately twice the rate of general inflation<sup>1</sup>—with the average cost of a private four-year college education topping $53,980 annually.<sup>2</sup>

There are several options available to help you prepare for this important milestone, including 529 plans, which have revolutionized the way families invest for college and other qualified education expenses. The plans offer a significant degree of flexibility and control, and provide benefits that other education savings programs don't offer.

Here's what you should know if you are considering a 529 plan:

1. THEY'RE NOT JUST FOR KIDS.

Although most 529 plans are typically used to fund higher education for children, they are ideal for anyone with education funding needs. Whether you're a retiree who wants to pursue lifelong learning or a professional who is returning to school to advance your career, 529 plans may have a place in your investment portfolio.

2. IT'S AN INVESTMENT VEHICLE THAT ALLOWS TAX-DEFERRED ACCUMULATION OF SAVINGS AND TAX-FREE WITHDRAWALS FOR QUALIFIED EDUCATION EXPENSES

Money in a 529 plan generally accumulates free of federal income taxes, and as long as funds are used for qualified education expenses, the withdrawals from your account are also federal income tax-free.<sup>3</sup>

3. 529 PLANS TYPICALLY HAVE HIGH MAXIMUM CONTRIBUTION LIMITS, WHICH ALLOW YOU TO INVEST MORE FOR EDUCATION EXPENSES.

Most 529 plans have contribution limits in excess of $300,000 per beneficiary, enabling you to accumulate sufficient assets to cover college costs fully.<sup>4</sup>

4. IF YOU'RE THE ACCOUNT OWNER, YOU HAVE COMPLETE CONTROL OVER HOW 529 ASSETS ARE USED.

Some vehicles traditionally used for education funding, such as uniform gift to minors accounts (UGMA), require that the assets be turned over to the beneficiary at a certain age. With a 529 plan, you—not the beneficiary—control how the money is used, thus ensuring that it is spent according to your wishes. This means that if it is not utilized for the beneficiary's educational purposes, you can choose another eligible beneficiary or use the plan for your own educational funding needs.

5. THERE ARE NO INCOME RESTRICTIONS.

Unlike some education funding vehicles with age and income restrictions, which limit the amount you can save, generally anyone can contribute to or use 529 plans for education purposes—parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, or even friends. You can even change the beneficiary without penalty.<sup>5</sup>

6. CONTRIBUTING TO A 529 PLAN CAN REMOVE TAXABLE ASSETS FROM YOUR ESTATE FOR FEDERAL ESTATE TAX PURPOSES, WHICH MAY REDUCE YOUR ESTATE TAX LIABILITY.

Your contribution is treated as a completed gift to the named beneficiary for gift-tax and generation-skipping transfer-tax purposes and qualifies for the $15,000 annual gift-tax exclusion ($30,000 for married couples), allowing you to make fairly large contributions without incurring the federal gift tax. What's more, if you make a contribution between $15,000 and $75,000 for a beneficiary you can elect to treat the contribution as if it were made over a five-calendar-year period for gift-tax purposes (up to $150,000 for married couples).<sup>6</sup> This means the money gets out of your estate faster than if you made contributions each year. And the best part? Even though the asset leaves your estate, it doesn't leave your control if you are the owner of the 529 plan.<sup>6</sup>

7. THEY'RE NOT JUST FOR IN-STATE COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

Whether the goal is to spend a semester abroad or pursue a degree stateside, you can use a 529 plan at any in-state, out-of-state or international institution, as long as it's used with an accredited program. The Federal Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 permits Federal Income Tax Free qualified withdrawals from 529 plans of up to $10,000 per year per student to pay expenses for tuition in connection with enrollment or attendance at an elementary or secondary public, private or religious school. Additionally, under the SECURE Act of 2019, qualified education expenses for federal income tax purposes include (a) up to $10,000 used to repay qualified student loans and (b) certain costs for qualifying apprenticeship programs.<sup>3</sup> The state income tax treatment vary by state. Account owners should consult with a qualified tax advisor prior to making such withdrawals as they may be subject to adverse tax consequences.

8. YOU MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR ADDITIONAL TAX BENEFITS BY OWNING THE 529 PLAN OFFERED BY YOUR STATE.

Many states offer income tax deductions or credits to residents who contribute to their own state's plan. A few states offer a state income tax deduction or credit, regardless of which 529 plan you invest in. Your Financial Advisor can help you select the right plan from the available options. State laws vary, so consult with your tax advisor.<sup>7</sup>

9. PLANS ARE PROFESSIONALLY MANAGED AND OFFER A RANGE OF INVESTMENT OPTIONS.

With 529 plans, you have access to professional money managers with years of experience managing assets. Most plans also offer several investment options, such as age-based portfolios that become more conservative as the beneficiary nears their college attendance date.

10. ONLY A SMALL PERCENTAGE OF 529 ASSETS ARE INCLUDED IN FINANCIAL AID CALCULATIONS.

Although the rules may vary slightly by state, generally a 529 account owned by a parent for a dependent student is reported on the federal financial aid application (FAFSA) as a parental asset and is assessed at a (maximum) 5.64% rate in determining the student's expected family contribution (EFC).<sup>8</sup>

A Range of Investment Strategies to Help You Achieve Your Goals

A 529 plan can help you put a loved one on the path to success, while potentially reducing the taxable value of your estate. <sup>3</sup> Assets in a 529 plan potentially grow on a tax deferred basis and can generally be withdrawn federal income tax-free only if they are used to pay for qualified education expenses. Qualified expenses include tuition, fees, room and board, books and supplies at virtually any accredited post-secondary school. Effective for distributions made on or after January 1, 2018, the definition of qualified education expenses for federal income tax purposes expanded to include tuition for K-12 schools, as a result of the 2017 Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. The new tax law limits qualified 529 withdrawals for eligible K-12 tuition to $10,000 per beneficiary per year. Effective for distributions made on or after January 1, 2019, the definition of qualified higher education expenses for federal income tax purposes was expanded to include certain costs associated with qualifying apprenticeship programs and up to $10,000 (lifetime limit per individual) in amounts paid towards qualified student loans of the 529 plan designated beneficiary (or such beneficiary's sibling). Note, however, using 529 plan distributions to repay qualified student loans may impact the deductibility of student loan interest. The state tax treatment of 529 plans (including the state tax treatment of distributions) may be different from the federal tax treatment and may vary based on the particular 529 plan in which you participate and your state of residence. If the applicable state tax law does not conform with the federal tax law, 529 plan distributions used to pay certain expenses, such as K-12 tuition expenses, principal and interest on qualified student loans and/or qualifying apprenticeship costs, may not be considered qualified expenses for state tax purposes and may result in adverse state tax consequences to the account owner or designated beneficiary. Non-qualified distributions of earnings will be subject to ordinary income tax and may be subject to a 10% federal income tax penalty. Many states allow a partial or full state income tax deduction or credit for 529 plan contributions to a 529 plan, but may limit the availability of such credit or deduction to only those contributions made to that state's sponsored 529 plan.

<sup>4</sup> Contribution limits vary by state. Refer to the individual plan for specific contribution guidelines.

<sup>5</sup> Some plans may have age, residency or other restrictions and may charge a fee for beneficiary changes, and beneficiary changes may result in an immediate tax liability if the new beneficiary is not a member of the previous beneficiary's family.

<sup>6</sup> As of 2020, the annual gift tax exclusion is $15,000 for individuals, and double for married couples at $30,000 annually or $150,000 over a five-year period. An election to do so must be made on a gift tax return for the year of the gift. This assumes there are no frontloaded 529 contributions made by the gift giver for the benefit of the same individual during the prior four years. Any frontloaded 529 contributions made for the benefit of the same individual during the four years prior to the year of the frontloaded contribution may result in a taxable gift. Additionally, any gifts to the same individual during the year of the frontload 529 contribution or the four years after the frontloaded 529 contribution is made may result in a taxable gift. If the donor dies within five years of making the frontloaded 529 contribution, the estate will generally recapture a portion of the assets for federal estate tax purposes

<sup>7</sup> Some states offer favourable tax treatment and other benefits to their residents only if they invest in the state's own Qualified Tuition Program. Investors should consult with their financial and tax advisor before investing in any 529 plan, or contact their state tax division for more information.

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES

The 529 Plan Description contains more information on investment options, risk factors, fees and expenses, and potential tax consequences, which should be carefully considered before investing. Investors can obtain a 529 Plan Description from their Financial Advisor and should read it carefully before investing.

Investments in the 529 Plan are not FDIC-insured, nor are they deposits or guaranteed by a bank or any other entity, so an individual may lose money through such investments.

Investors should consider many factors before deciding which 529 plan is appropriate. Some of these factors include: the plan's investment options and the historical investment performance of these options, the plan's flexibility and features, the reputation and expertise of the plan's investment manager, plan contribution limits and the federal and state tax benefits associated with an investment in the plan. Some states, for example, offer favorable tax treatment and other benefits to their residents only if they invest in the state's own qualified tuition program. Investors should determine their home state's tax treatment of 529 plans when considering whether to choose an in-state or out-of-state plan. Investors should consult with their tax or legal advisor before investing in any 529 plan or contact their state tax division for more information.
